

Synonyms for "Said"

GENERAL

SYNONYM	MEANING
added	to embellish or enhance an argument continued	to further an earlier point stated	to say, usually confined to quotes or paraphrases from documents, or to official statements announced	to declare publicly or formally asserted	to state positively, with great confidence but no objective proof commented	to make a remark to explain, interpret, or criticize declared	to make known clearly and openly observed	to mention casually remarked	to make a brief, casual statement of opinion reported	to give an account of; to carry message; to give a formal statement

The following verbs should be limited to the specific circumstances described by the definitions:

ACKNOWLEDGING OR REVEALING

SYNONYM	MEANING
acknowledged	implies reluctant disclosure of something that might have been a secret admitted	implies reluctance to disclose, grant, or concede, and usually refers to facts rather than their implication affirmed	implies deep conviction and unlikelihood of contradiction alleged	to assert or declare, especially without proof avowed	implies boldly declaring, often in the face of hostility conceded	similar to acknowledge and admit confessed	may apply to an admission of a weakness, failure, omission, or guilt disclosed	to reveal something previously concealed divulged	to reveal something that should have remained secret or private, which may imply a breach of confidence revealed	to make something known that had been secret or hidden

INQUISITIVE

SYNONYM	MEANING
begged	to ask in a humble or earnest manner demanded	to ask for boldly or urgently implored	to ask with great fervor, implying desperation or great distress insisted	to demand strongly, to declare firmly pleaded	to answer a legal charge, to offer as an excuse or defense, to implore or beg

EXPLANATORY

SYNONYM	MEANING
answered	to respond to a question explained	to make an explanation rejoined	to answer an objection replied	to answer a question or comment responded	to reply to a question or comment retorted	to reply to a charge or criticism in a sharp, witty way returned	to reply to a charge or criticism in a sharp, witty way; to answer an objection

ARGUMENTATIVE

SYNONYM	MEANING
contended	to argue or dispute
countered	to dispute
emphasized	to stress
exclaimed	to speak suddenly or vehemently maintained	to assert, to support by argument, to affirm proclaimed	to announce officially proposed	to set forth a design or plan

SUGGESTIVE

SYNONYM	MEANING
hinted	implies slight or remote suggestion implied	similar to suggest, but may indicate a more definite or logical relation of the unexpressed idea to the expressed insinuated	refers to conveying a usually unpleasant idea in a sly, underhanded manner intimated	stresses delicacy of suggestion suggested	to propose as a possibility, to convey indirectly by putting an idea into the mind by association

TONE

The following words all describe manners of speaking or tones of voice and should be used when necessary and appropriate.

SYNONYM	MEANING
barked	to speak or shout sharply bellowed	to roar, to cry out loudly in anger or fear cackled	to laugh cynically or sneer; implies sinister intent cried	to call for help, to shout, to sob, to weep croaked	to make a sound like a frog or raven, to talk dismally declaimed	to speak in a pompous way or deliver a tirade drawled	to speak in a way that prolongs the vowels joked	to make a joke
mumbled	to utter inarticulate or almost inaudible sounds murmured	to speak in a low, indistinct voice muttered	to speak angry or discontented words in a low, indistinct voice roared	to utter a loud, deep sound scolded	to find fault with angrily shouted	to make a loud cry or call shrieked	to make a loud, piercing cry or sound wailed	to express grief or pain through long, loud cries whispered	to speak softly, especially to avoid being overheard